

Escape From Alcatraz

The 1979 American film “Escape from Alcatraz” was based on the true story of the notorious Dinklaker sisters who, in 1967, managed to squeeze through the bars of their prison cell door, overpower the guard, steal the RMS Queen Mary, which had unexpectedly docked at the island pier, and escape, never to be seen again – except, decades later, in the occasional company of Elvis.