

Amaurosis stupidulum

Amaurosis fugax is a not uncommon transient loss of vision for which Medical Science has distinguished five pathobiological classes: embolic, hemodynamic, ocular, neurologic, and, of course, idiopathic. When Mrs. Merpatee Pringler showed up at the Rancho Cucamonga Medical Facility last Wednesday, however, she reminded clinicians there of a sixth type of temporary blindness: Amaurosis stupidulum.
