

The Best Things

Dinklaker Restaurant Review: The Unemployed Diner, April 27. Whoever said “the best things in life are free” had never had coffee and a cruller at The Unemployed Diner on Delancey Street. While the waitstaff were consistently excellent, the food and drink they served were not. The ambergris in the doughnut overpowered the other ingredients, causing gastrointestinal distress. And the coffee’s distinctive flavor reminded this reviewer of whitlow. Rated 1 star: Not recommended.
