

Binky

Young Binky Dinklaker was by far the Village of Smoot's most curmudgeonly crumbsnatcher. His incessant squalling even affected the local weather, turning a sunny day saturnine the moment his mood darkened. Which was often. But everything changed when his parents joined the local cannabis club and started the lad on daily doses of medical marijuana. After a puff or two, Binky became contemplative, comradely, sometimes even cordial! Alas, his resistance to the drug gradually built up until he was more ornery than ever before. But that's another story.