

The Chain Smoker

In rural England in the 1950s, there were two distinct types of chain smokers: there was the bloke who smoked one cigarette after another after another; and then there was Edwin here, who smoked ... well, chains.