

“Factory Fresh”

Dinklaker Global Manufacturing produced some of the finest quality watermelons in the world, thanks to its state-of-the-art injection molding and friction welding processes. The melons were so good, in fact, that “factory fresh” soon became the standard against which all other commercially available fruit were judged.