

Wynken, Blynken, and Nadine

Wynken, Blynken, and Nadine, three aliens from the faraway planet Zombocartumia, had been on Earth for nearly a year before they were discovered – or unearthed, as they later described it. They had agreed to be part of an amateur fashion show at the high school they had infiltrated. But as they strolled down the runway, one of the spotlights shorted out, causing a temporal rift to suddenly open up directly above them and play havoc with their gravitational anchors. As the three sister-pods rose into the air, they sensed their roles as clandestine extraterrestrial observers coming to an abrupt end.