

Oops

“Back up a little, Blanche,” said Eduardo, pretending to fiddle with the focus on his camera.” A little more. And, just a bit more. Okay, that’s good. Now say cheese!” As she unwittingly did so, the sound activated the audio receptor in the Apatosaurus behind her. And suddenly, the giant supposedly extinct beast sprang to life. Eduardo assumed that the dinosaur pheromones he’d slathered over Blanche’s dress would turn her into a toothsome entrée, thereby ridding him of her in what he reckoned was the perfect crime. Instead, the Apatosaurus inexplicably made a bee line for Eduardo’s camera, and – by extension – Eduardo. Oops!