

The Human Piñata

No one was more surprised than firefighter Emil Dinklaker when, after supposedly rescuing a middle-aged woman from a burning apartment building, he accidentally bumped her head on an overhanging ledge and it popped off, causing hundreds of toys to erupt from what turned out to be the Tonka Toys' very lifelike "Blanche, the Human Piñata."