

Rematch!

Nursing two shiners, Little Jiminy Dinklaker complained bitterly that he'd been sucker-punched by Rover. But the referee had declared it a perfectly legal blow, adding that it was Jiminy's own fault that he let down his guard when Rover paused to scratch a flea on his hind leg, only to lash out a moment later with that devastating right paw. Jiminy grumpily demanded a rematch, but his opponent had already gone off to harry the local letter carrier.