

The Riesenklavier

Esteemed pianist Andre Dinklaker had always yearned for a Bösendorfer Riesenklavier, reputed to be the biggest piano in the world, thanks to the extra trill octave. And one day, he found it – in, of all places, his neighboring town of Pringlerville! Andre was on tour when it was delivered, so he was as surprised as anyone when he got home and discovered that not only was the Riesenklavier the world's biggest piano, it was also the heaviest.