

Shinnnns!

As we all know – or as we all should know if we want to be prepared for the impending apocalypse – zombies of today are propelled by a craving for brains. But in the not too distant past (some say as recently as 1968), they favored a lower, more accessible part of their human prey: shinnnns!