

The Acme Stretch-o-Matic

Audrey wanted so much to be part of the Fresno Freethrows that she consented to have the semi-professional basketball team “rehabilitate” her body with the Acme Stretch-o-matic. After the procedure – which was not as pleasant as advertised – she measured an imposing 8' 2" from toe to topknot. However, her hand-to-ball coordination deteriorated markedly, and the team summarily dismissed her, citing “irreconcilable dribbling.”