

Suture-Self

In the penny-pinching health maintenance world of the future, patients will rarely have access to real medical professionals. Instead, they'll be obliged to learn to tend to their own ailments. One procedure already in operation (ha) is a self-administered method of stitching closed wounds called the Suture-Self Home ~~Lobotomy~~ Laceration Repair. It has so far been employed with only mixed results.