

Trio Ausonia

Trio Ausonia was the world's only professional ensemble that performed music specifically written for kettle lids—rather surprising, given the richness of the instrument's repertoire. There were, of course, people who pooh-poohed the kettle lid, claiming it wasn't a viable musical apparatus, but they were probably descendants of the kettledrum naysayers!