

Yvonne

Yvonne was crowned Queen of the Tree People because she was the only forest dweller who had had trees as parents. Dad was a towering oak and Mom was an American elm, who regrettably fell victim to Dutch elm disease. In fact, if not for the quick thinking of arborist Wilbur “Woody” Dinklaker, who performed the woodsman’s version of a Cesarean section, Yvonne might never have even drawn her first sap-tinged breath!